POVERTY & JUSTICE
A DEADLY MIX

October 10th 2017 - World day against the death penalty

Why a World Day on the death penalty and poverty?

The aim of the World Coalition is to reinforce the international dimension of the fight against the death penalty. Its ultimate objective is to achieve universal abolition of the death penalty. In those countries which still use the death penalty, the World Coalition is working to reduce its use, invoking in particular the respect of international standards. Since the creation of the World Coalition Against the Death Penalty in 2002, significant progress towards the universal abolition of the death penalty has been achieved. Numerous states which maintained the death penalty have abolished it in practice or have restricted its use.

Every year on World Day, the World Coalition highlights one problematic aspect of the death penalty. On 10 October 2017, the World Coalition Against the Death Penalty along with abolitionist activists worldwide marked the 15th World Day against the Death Penalty by raising awareness about the reasons why people living in poverty are at greater risk of being sentenced to death and executed.

The death penalty is used discriminatorily, often against the most vulnerable people and should be abolished. The application of the death penalty is inextricably linked to poverty. Social and economic inequalities affect access to justice for those who are sentenced to death for several reasons: defendants may lack resources (social and economic, but also political power) to defend themselves and will in some cases be discriminated against because of their social status.

[1] Main objective: Raising public awareness of the reasons people living in poverty are at greater risk of the death penalty, and to thereby build support for abolition

1) Institutional resonance of the 2017 World Day

The main objective of this 15th World Day was to raise public awareness about the reasons why people living in poverty are at a greater risk of being sentenced to death and executed. Several intergovernmental and supranational organizations answered the call and reasserted their opposition of the death penalty at the occasion of the World Day, giving to the latter an international resonance. The awareness raising an information spreading activities conducted before the World Day by the World Coalition towards institutional representatives bore results.¹

The UN General Secretary, Antonio Guterres, called all states that continue this barbaric practice to stop the executions, arguing that “The death penalty has no place in the 21st century”, while underlying how irrevocable the death penalty is. Guterres also urged retentionist countries to increase the transparency and cooperate more: “this lack of transparency shows a lack of respect for the human rights of those sentenced to death and to their families”. Rupert Colville, spokesperson for the Office of the United Nations High Commissioner for Human Rights called on all States to ratify the Second Optional Protocol to the International Covenant on Civil and Political Rights, aiming at the abolition of the death penalty.

The Council of Europe and the European Union released a joint statement which reaffirms “their strong and unequivocal opposition to capital punishment in all circumstances and for all cases.” Both institutions called retentionist countries to establish a moratorium on executions and encourage transparency with lawyers and prisoners’ families. By sharing this statement and assisting local organizations, numerous EU delegations took action on World Day.

➤ The awareness-raising work undertaken by the World Coalition

- The World Coalition made many oral statements on discrimination and the death penalty at the United Nations Human Rights Council.
- The World Coalition participated in a session at the African Commission on Human and Peoples’ Rights and made statements on World Day’s theme.
- The World Coalition participated in an expert level meeting on discrimination and the death penalty organized by the Office of the United Nations High Commissioner for Human Rights.
- The World Coalition organized a workshop on World Day during the General Assembly in Washington D.C. in June 2017.
- As soon as July 2017, the World Coalition sent parcels with mobilization tools to 105 representatives of international organizations.

2) Media coverage of 2017 World Day

2017 World Day benefited from a strong media coverage. Worldwide, 852 articles in 99 countries mentioning the World Day were compiled. By comparison ,1023 articles in 104 countries were recorded in 2016. This decrease results from the absence of statement from the Pope. Indeed, last year, hundreds of articles analyzed and commented the Pope’s statement for World Day.

Although the Pope did not mention World Day this year, worldwide media covered and shared the UN General Secretary, the Council of Europe and the European Union’ statements. Media also commented and covered the strong mobilization of the abolitionist movement.

¹ The work of the World Coalition begins as soon as January, with the consultation of its members of the topic to be chosen and with the creation of a Working group on World Day.

Confirming the trend of the previous World Day editions, the number of events increased with 622 events organized in 84 countries (608 events recorded in 96 countries in 2016).

Thanks to the numerous Op-Eds and events organized by members of the World Coalition, media tackled this year's theme, thus establishing a link between death sentences and socio-economic status.

3) Social media coverage of 2017 World Day

For its 15th birthday, the World Coalition launched a social media campaign aiming at reaching a wider audience and increasing its visibility. From October 1st to October 10, the World Coalition posted on Facebook and Twitter 10 infographics, 3 videos and several quizzes to assess the prejudices people might have on the death penalty.

On Twitter, the hashtag #NoDeathPenalty was retweeted by several people and organizations. Richard Branson, CEO of Virgin, published a blog post with one of the 10 infographics and the World Day Poster. The Virgin group mentioned the World Coalition 14 times, with tweets reaching 180 likes and 52 retweets.

Thanks to this social media campaign, the social media traffic of the World Coalition increased. In October 2017, 3,376 people visited the World Coalition's twitter account: a significant increase of 60% compared to 2016 World Day. 468 people mentioned the World Coalition, which also gained 146 new followers.

The Facebook page also gained more visibility. Indeed, the number of visits increased by 755%, the number of likes and followers by 200%. Facebook also recorded more than 2,863 interactions with the World Coalition's publications which reached 20,055 individuals.

[2] Strengthen advocacy for the abolition of the death penalty by mobilizing the argument of socio-economic discrimination

1) Creating and sharing mobilization tools for the 15th World Day

To foster the widest participation possible to the World Day against the Death Penalty and to strengthen the abolitionist civil society, especially in countries still implementing the death penalty, the World Coalition put together information and mobilization tool packs. Those are made available to members, the media, and anyone who wants to take part in the World Day in order to raise awareness and mobilize people on a local level in as many countries as possible. The tool packs were sent out to all members of the World Coalition and its partners in July 2017. The tool packs were also available on request and could be downloaded from the World Coalition's website:

- 2017 World Day Poster
- 2017 World Day Leaflet
- Facts and Figures 2017
- Detailed Factsheet on Death Penalty and Poverty
- Mobilization kit
- Model letter to governments
- Factsheet for Parliamentarians 2017
- Factsheet for Lawyers 2017
- 2016 World Day report

➤ Distribution

600 recipients received the 5,465 posters and 10,811 leaflets.

2,081 tools available online were downloaded from the World Coalition's website (2,026 last year). The tool Facts and Figures was most downloaded. Although the World Coalition posted the Factsheet for Lawyers on World Day's eve, users massively downloaded the tool. Because the World Coalition and its members did not want to encourage private individuals to go to prisons and create conflicts with prison authorities, the Secretariat did not publish on its website the methodology factsheet to establish socio-economic profiles of prisoners sentenced to death. Only members received this tools by mail.

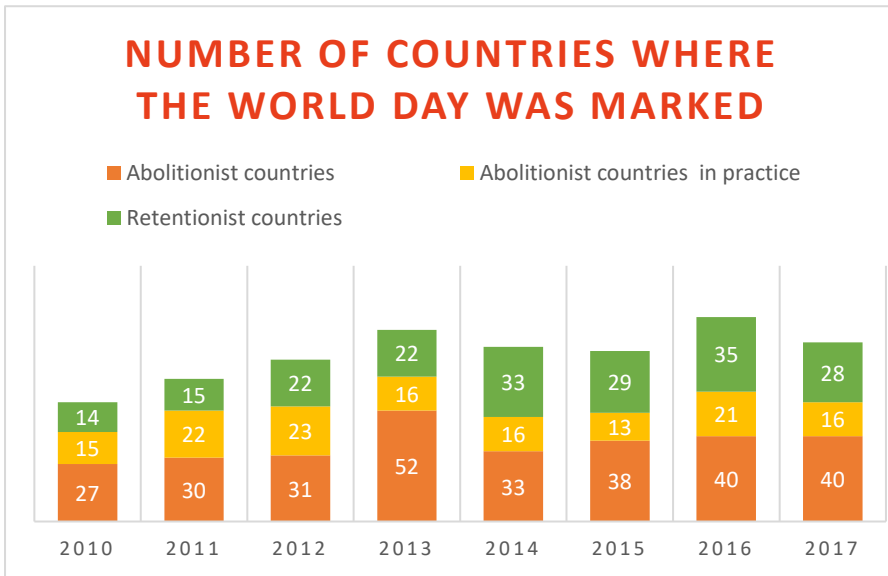

A total of 12,538 pages were viewed on the website of the World Coalition between October 6th and 12th 2017 (against 9,094 in 2016) and nearly 8,038 pages between October 9th and 11th 2017 (against 8,420 pages between October 9th and 11th 2016). On the 10th of October 2017, 4,222 pages were viewed (against 3,028 on October 10th, 2016).

Between the publication of the World Day webpage on June 10th, 2017 and January 31st, 2018, the campaign page was viewed 23,044 times in all languages (against 7,363 in 2016).

2) Encouraging the organization of local initiatives and strengthening the abolitionist civil society

a. Various events in numerous countries

With 622 events in 84 countries, this 15th edition of World Day broke the previous record held in 2016. Even though the mobilization was less important in Asia, the number of events increased in Sub-Saharan Africa, North America, South America and the Caribbean.

If most events were held around the 10th of October, events took place from September to November 2017. On November 7, 2017, for instance, ACAT and Lifespark organized a talk with Bill Pelke from Journey of Hope in Switzerland.

In addition to this important mobilization, events were very diverse. Conscious of the power of the fourth estate, members targeted media (press conference, press release, interviews on tv, radio broadcast...). Combined with educational activities (workshops, round tables, publications, educational activities in schools, etc.), it made up half of the initiatives (59%). Over the past few years online mobilization has increased and constitute 18% of the mobilization. Indeed, many non-profit organizations but also EU delegations and embassies were very active on Twitter and Facebook this year. On the other hand, traditional initiatives (sit-in, petition, protest) and cultural events have decreased and now represent 8 and 9% of the mobilization. Finally, political events (lobbying meetings, government statements, presentation of a draft bill) still constitute a minority (6%).

2017 WORLD DAY EVENTS

b. Worldwide mobilization to raise awareness on the death penalty

• Africa

For the 15th World Day Against the Death Penalty, 121 events took place in 26 countries of Sub-Saharan Africa, which constitutes an increase of 13% compared to 2016 and 101% compared to 2015. Abolitionists organized numerous panel discussions such as in Tanzania where many panel discussions on the death penalty and poverty took place. The media coverage was also important. Culture Pour la Paix et la Justice, a Congolese organization, gave 9 interviews on national television and radio. Other organizations such as the Foundation for Human Rights Initiative (Uganda) or Comunità di Sant'Egidio (Malawi, Lesotho, Kenya, Cameroon and Uganda) visited prisoners. Media coverage continues to be on rise with 133 articles collected (114 in 2016).

The World Coalition published an article about the strong mobilization in Sub-Saharan Africa. The article is available here: <http://www.worldcoalition.org/fr/World-Day-Against-the-Death-Penalty-a-strong-mobilization-in-Sub-Saharan-Africa.html>.

- Americas

With 108 events recorded, the mobilization in the Americas was far more important than last year (33 events). To raise awareness about the death penalty, Journey of Hope toured in Texas, a State which has one of the highest conviction and execution rates of the country. Despite the Irma Hurricane, the Caribbean took action: Greater Caribbean for Life organized a screening in Trinidad and Tobago. Paradoxically, media coverage was less important than last year with only 113 articles (240 in 2016).

In a press release, the Canadian Ministry of Foreign Affairs issued a statement reiterating its total opposition to the death penalty: “Canada opposes the death penalty in all cases, everywhere. It is a form of punishment that is incompatible with human rights and human dignity.”

- Asia

With 64 events in Asia this year (124 in 2016), the number of Asia initiatives dropped sharply. As a corollary, the media coverage also declined (96 articles in 2017 against 112 in 2016). Several factors contributed to this decrease. The ongoing repression against the civil society in Singapore, the Philippines and Hong Kong prevented abolitionists to take action. Moreover, even though this year’s theme is quite universal, it did not match with the current Asian problematics. Indeed, themes such as drug trafficking (2015) or terrorism (2016) reflect the daily reality of Asian human rights defenders and are more likely to mobilize the civil society. Pakistan civil society, however, was really active for 2017 World Day. Through this Bus Kar Do campaign, Justice Project Pakistan went to several Pakistanis cities to raise awareness among local populations about the discriminatory aspect of the death penalty. Human Rights Commission of Pakistan organized a protest and asked for the reinstatement of the moratorium on executions.² Reprivee Australia took action by organizing seminars in Australian universities and welcoming Death Penalty Project for an October tour.

At the behest of the Commission on Human Rights of the Philippines, the World Coalition released an infographic on the possible reinstatement of the death penalty in the country. The Commission on Human Rights of the Philippines published this infographic in its awareness campaign on social media.

- Europe

From petitions launched by Amnesty International to a conference organized by FIACAT at the Council of Europe, events in Europe were extremely varied. With 275 events in 23 countries, the mobilization was nearly as strong as last year (288 events in 23 countries). Media coverage was also as important as the 14th edition with 366 articles recorded. As in past years, Viasna was really active in Belarus, the last retentionist country of Europe. In addition to its concerts “Rock For Life” and its advocacy campaign, Viasna organized three screenings, 2 panels of discussion and a prison visit.

- Middle East and North of Africa (MENA)

With 54 events in 12 countries, the number of initiatives was almost identical to last year (56 initiatives in 12 countries). The Coalition nationale tunisienne contre la peine de mort organized a 10-day campaign with screenings, theatre plays, panel discussions and an art exhibition. In partnership with ECPM, the Coalition marocaine contre la peine de mort held a 2-day seminar in addition to a protest before the Moroccan parliament. The secretariat collected 144 articles. Most of the articles focused on the situation in Iran and the mobilization of the Iranian civil society. Egyptian, Tunisian and Moroccan media were also very active this year.

The Jordanian Coalition Against the Death Penalty discussed the fate of the death penalty in Jordan in a panel discussion on October 9, 2017.

[3] Contributing to strengthen the defense of the people sentenced to death

1) Creating and sharing the factsheet for lawyers

People living in poverty are the first victims of the death penalty. The effectiveness and diligence of the defense will be crucial for these defendants. In retentionist countries, however, capital defense lawyers work in difficult conditions and/or have little experience in death penalty cases.

To remedy this situation, the World Coalition, in partnership with the Paris Bar, developed a tool aiming at assisting lawyers representing people sentenced to death. The main purpose of this tool is to identify key elements and resources lawyers will need to establish a meaningful relationship with the client and prepare an effective defense.

2) Encouraging members to organize events around the role of lawyers in capital defense cases.

During the 15th World Day, many members organized events underlining the role of lawyers in death penalty cases:

- Ensemble Contre la Peine de Mort (ECPM) published a book with testimonies of capital defense lawyers.
- Many lawyers such as Shreya Rastogi (India) et Me. Besadoq (Tunisia) participated in a conference on death penalty and poverty organized by the French Bar Association and ECPM.
- Penal Reform International published an Op-Ed of Robin Maher, a capital defense lawyer, explaining the link between poverty and the death penalty.
- Judge Michael Rozenes, Esq Parvais Jabbar and Saul Lehrfreund talked at a commemoration event organized by Reprive Australia.
- The World Coalition Against the Death Penalty released several advocacy videos, including two interviews Robin Maher and Shreya Rastogi.

[4] Strengthen advocacy for the abolition of the death penalty by mobilizing the argument of socio-economic distribution

1) Creation of a research methodology to establish socio-economic profiles of prisoners sentenced to death

One of the difficulties with regard to the creation of World Day tools on poverty has been the lack of data on the topic. There is currently very little information regarding the socio-economic status of the people sentenced to death around the world.

The World Coalition released for its members a research methodology to establish socio-economic profiles of prisoners sentenced to death. The purpose of this tool is to collect data enabling abolitionists to build a persuasive argument in favor of the abolition of the death penalty.

Many members were willing to conduct research for 2017 World Day. Access to prison, however, was difficult most of the time. This first attempt gave members the necessary experience to conduct research for the next World Day which will focus on living conditions on death row.

2) Numerous events on the socio-economic status of people on death row.

The limited access to death row did not prevent members to discuss and debate on the socio-economic profile of people sentenced to death:

- The French ministry of Foreign Affairs interviewed Shreya Rastogi. During this Facebook Live, Shreya Rastogi discussed the social-economic profile of prisoners in India.
- Justice Project Pakistan published several Op-Eds setting the profile of death row prisoners in the country, mainly people from a poor economic background or with mental disabilities.
- In Democratic Republic of the Congo, ACAT organized a conference on the death penalty and poverty, demonstrating the link between death sentences and the socio-economic background of the prisoners.

The World Coalition Against the Death Penalty, an alliance of more than 150 NGOs, bar associations, local authorities and unions, was created in Rome on 13 May 2002. It was founded as a result of the commitment made by the signatories of the Final Declaration of the 1st World Congress against the Death Penalty organised by the French NGO Together Against the Death Penalty (ECPM) in Strasbourg in June 2001.

The aim of the World Coalition is to strengthen the international dimension of the fight against the death penalty. Its ultimate objective is to obtain the universal abolition of the death penalty. To achieve its goal, the World Coalition advocates for a definitive end to death sentences and executions in those countries where the death penalty is in force. In some countries, it is seeking to obtain a reduction in the use of capital punishment as a first step towards abolition.

Since 2003, the Coalition has established 10 October as the World Day against the Death Penalty.
