[1] ABOLITIONIST AND RETENTIONIST COUNTRIES

More than two thirds of countries in the world have abolished the death penalty in law or in practice.¹

- 109 countries abolished the death penalty for all crimes.
- 8 countries abolished the death penalty for ordinary crimes only, with exceptions placed on crimes committed in times of war.
- 28 countries can be considered abolitionist in practice as they have not held an execution for the last 10 years and are believed to have a policy or established practice of not carrying out executions.
- In total 144 countries have abolished the death penalty in law or in practice.
- 55 countries and territories still uphold and use the death penalty.
- 18 countries carried out executions in 2020.
- In 2020, the top five executioners were China, Iran, Egypt, Iraq, and Saudi Arabia.

[2] PROGRESS MADE TOWARDS GLOBAL ABOLITION OF THE DEATH PENALTY

In 2020, executions recorded by Amnesty International continued to decrease reaching a new low level in the past 10 years, with the COVID-19 pandemic contributing to the decline. Even countries that are strong adherents to the death penalty such as Iran – the second largest executioner in the world – saw a continued decline in executions.⁶

Positive and negative outcomes occurred in the United States when Colorado became the 22nd abolitionist State but federal executions resumed after a 17-year moratorium in July 2020. The State of Virginia also abolished in March 2021, making it the 23rd State to abolish. Chad made headlines abolishing the death penalty for terrorism in May 2020. Malawi also abolished the death penalty in May 2021. Kazakhstan signed the Second Optional Protocol to the ICCPR in September 2020, with Armenia ratifying the same treaty in March 2021.

In the world, 175 United Nation (UN) Member States out of 193 did not carry out any executions in 2020. In December 2020, the UN General Assembly voted overwhelmingly in favor of its biennial resolution calling for a moratorium on executions with 123 countries supporting its adoption, 38 against and 24 abstained.

[3] DEATH SENTENCES AND EXECUTIONS

In 2020, the number of executions its lowest level in at least 10 years; at least 483 executions were recorded while 1,477 death sentences were handed down in 54 countries (compared to approx. 2,307 in 56 countries in 2019). Because of a lack of information and/or transparency from many retentionist governments, such as China whose figures could not be incorporated in the above number, those figures are the lowest ones that could be determined. As such, the number of executions and death sentences are likely to be underestimated. At the end of 2020, 28,567 people were known to be under a sentence of death.

[Asia]

Human rights organizations working in and on China estimate the number of its executions in 2020 was in the thousands; figures pertaining to the death penalty

⁶ According to the annual reports on the death penalty in Iran by Iran Human Rights and ECPM, Iranian authorities executed 267 in 2020, as compared to 280+ in 2019. It also remains the only country to have executed juvenile offenders in 2020. https://iranhr.net/en/articles/4677/remain a state secret in China, as in North Korea and Vietnam. India and Taiwan both resumed executions after unofficial moratoriums: 4 years for India, 1 year for Taiwan. No executions were carried out in Japan, Pakistan, and Singapore. Overall, the region saw a large dip in the number of new death sentences - 517 recorded in 2020, as compared to 1,227 in 2019. The death sentences that were handed down were, in many cases, seen as a violation to international human rights standards given that they were applied in the context of crimes that do not meet the “most serious crime” definition (for instance, the application of capital punishment for drug offences, and economic crime). According to Amnesty International, people who were under 18 years of age at the time of the offense have been sentenced to death in Maldives.

[Middle East & North Africa]
Unlike 2019, where executions increased, the Middle East and North Africa saw an overall 25% decrease in executions, with only 8 countries carrying out 437 recorded executions; this is largely due to a decrease in executions in states like Saudi Arabia and Iraq. Egypt was the outlier, whose executions increased while Oman and Qatar resumed executions as well in 2020. Amongst the uptick of individuals executed in Egypt, it is believed that “confessions” were extracted through torture and that death sentences were handed down despite proceedings that did not meet international fair trial standards. At least 1 public execution was carried out in Iran, while 3 people were executed for crimes committed below 18 years of age. In 2020, Saudi Arabia abolished the death penalty for minors. In Tunisia, under a moratorium since 1991, President Kais Saied declared that he was in favor of resuming executions.

[America]
For the 12th consecutive year, the United States was the only nation to carry out executions in the Americas. In the United States, in 2020, 18 death sentences were handed down in 7 States (35 sentences in 2019). The Federal government reversed a 17-year moratorium starting in July 2020. Military authorities have not carried out executions since 1961. Despite these worrying setbacks, the region recorded historically low figures regarding executions - 17 executions in 2020 (as compared to 22 in 2019), of which 10 were Federal executions. The death penalty is still used against people with mental or intellectual disabilities. Outside the United States, only Trinidad and Tobago handed down 1 new death sentence in 2020.

[Sub Saharan Africa]
In 2020, the only countries to carry out executions in Sub-Saharan Africa were Botswana, Somalia, and South Sudan. Overall, there was a significant decrease in executions and in handing down of death sentences. In 2019, 385 death sentences have been handed down and 25 individuals executed compared to 305 and 16, respectively in 2020. Additionally, Tanzania saw a wave of mass commutations of the death penalty, with 309 death sentences being commuted. On 15 April 2020, Cameroon President Paul Biya signed a presidential decree to commute and remit sentences, however its limited scope questions the effectiveness of this measure.

[4] EXECUTION METHODS
Executions in 2020 were carried out primarily through beheading (Saudi Arabia), electrocution (United States), hanging (Bangladesh, Botswana, Japan, Syria etc), lethal injection (China, United States, Vietnam, etc) and shooting (North Korea, Qatar, etc).

[5] INTERNATIONAL INSTRUMENTS SUPPORTING ABOLITION
Progress towards abolition has been made through the adoption of international treaties, whereby States pledge not to use capital punishment:

- Second Optional Protocol to the International Covenant on Civil and Political Rights, aiming at the abolition of the death penalty has been ratified by 90 States as of June 2021.
- Protocol to the American Convention on Human Rights on the abolition of the death penalty has been ratified by 13 States in the Americas.
- Protocol No. 6 to the Convention for the Protection of Human Rights and Fundamental Freedoms has now been ratified by 46 European States and signed, but not ratified by 1 other.
- Protocol No. 13 to the European Human Rights Convention concerning the abolition of the death penalty in all circumstances has been ratified by 44 European States and signed, but not ratified by 1 other.

Protocol No. 6 to the Convention for the Protection of Human Rights and Fundamental Freedoms provides for the abolition of the death penalty in times of peace, whereas Protocol No. 13 provides for its total abolition. The Second Optional Protocol to the International Covenant on Civil and Political Rights as well the Protocol to the American Convention on Human Rights also provide for the total abolition of the death penalty but give the party States the possibility to make an exception during times of war.
