Why is it important for Suriname to ratify the United Nations Protocol to abolish the death penalty?

Ratification of the Second Optional Protocol to the International Covenant on Civil and Political Rights (ICCPR) is extremely important, both nationally and locally, because it is the only text with worldwide reach aiming to abolish the death penalty.

Ratifying the Protocol is a very symbolic act, reflecting the universal trend towards abolition of capital punishment, considered to be cruel, inhuman, or degrading treatment.

It is essential that the world’s abolitionist countries ratify this Protocol.

What are the international commitments already taken by Suriname to ratify the Protocol?

Suriname participated to the 3rd cycle of the Universal Periodic Review (UPR) of the Human Rights Council in 2021 and accepted the recommendations to ratify the Second Optional Protocol to the ICCPR. Suriname had already accepted such recommendations during the first and second cycle of the UPR.

During the adoption of the report in March 2022, it indicated that following the abolition of the death penalty in the Penal Code in 2015 and in the Military Penal Code in 2021, further steps were being taken towards ratification of the Second Optional
Protocol. The Human Rights Council would inevitably commend Suriname if it ratified the Protocol before its next review in 2026.

In its Concluding Observations in 2015, the Human Rights Committee encouraged Suriname to “consider acceding to the Second Optional Protocol to the ICCPR.”

What are the steps to be taken as regards internal law?

According to Article 7.2 of the Protocol, it “is subject to ratification by any State that has ratified the Covenant or acceded to it.” Suriname acceded to the International Covenant on Civil and Political Rights in 1976 and it is therefore competent to ratify this Protocol.

Among the obligations incumbent upon Suriname following ratification of the Protocol are the prohibition of executions and withdrawal of the death penalty from internal criminal law. These two obligations have already been fulfilled by Suriname in practice. It may therefore unreservedly ratify the Protocol.

The instrument of ratification must then be deposited with the UN Secretary-General (Article 7.2 of the Protocol).

What are the legal obstacles to ratification?

There is no legal obstacle as the death penalty was abolished for all crimes of Suriname.

We therefore encourage Suriname to ratify this Protocol as soon as possible.

How can ratification of the Protocol be implemented?

The Protocol shall come into force three months after the instruments of ratification have been deposited with the UN Secretary-General (Article 8.2 of the Protocol).

According to Article 3 of the Protocol, Suriname must submit reports to the Human Rights Committee covering the measures it has adopted to give effect to the Protocol.

The World Coalition Against the Death Penalty also encourages Suriname to ratify the Protocol to the American Convention on Human Rights to abolish the death penalty.
